Maths Task

This half term, we are looking at recording data and drawing these on line graphs. Your task is to conduct a mini investigation where you will need to record data that shows a change over time and show these results in a line graph.

The time must always be shown on the X axis (across)

Possible investigations to conduct:

- Observing the change temperature throughout the day of your local setting or somewhere else in the world.
- Observing heart rate before and after exercise

When you have drawn the graph, you will need to write 3 questions that allow other people reading the graph to interpret the answers.

If you need squared paper to complete this task, please let us know.
